Introduction

Purpose of the Governance Handbook
The Clovis Community College Governance Handbook describes the structure and operating agreements for institutional governance and decision-making at Clovis Community College. These descriptions of how groups are formed and how they function are, in essence, descriptions of how Clovis Community College ensures that the voices of the College’s constituent groups are heard in making equitable decisions.

By documenting governance and institutional decision-making practices, this handbook promotes a common understanding of processes, helps to ensure consistent application of policies and practices, encourages broad participation in campus matters, and supports the College’s continuous quality improvement.

This handbook was developed using sincere and collegial self-reflection by representatives of all college constituent groups who were united by the vision of establishing structures, processes, and communication channels that will support ongoing College growth and continuous institutional improvement. College processes, including those described in this handbook, are periodically reviewed and revised as part of the institutional cycle of continuous quality improvement.

The undersigned Clovis Community College faculty, classified staff, student, and administrative representatives have agreed upon the contents of this document.

Lori Bennett, Ed.D., College President

Teresa Mendes, Ed.D., Academic Senate President

Carlyss Johnson, Classified Senate President

Ashu Yadav, Associated Student Government President

Clovis Community College Culture
The College’s culture impacts decisions in both formal and informal ways. The following points describe the philosophy and practices that define the Clovis Community College culture.

Guiding principles for Clovis Community College planning:

| Community | Equity | Innovation |

These are the three primary guiding principles for Clovis Community College’s planning. Each contributes to student success. All the objectives in college planning should be designed and evaluated with these principles in mind.

COMMUNITY BUILDING
Our college has a long-standing culture of collegiality that extends across all disciplines and functions and includes our students as members of our community of learning. We plan to continue that collegiality and expand our influence and our utility to the larger community.

Equity
The diversity of the Central Valley is an inspiration and a challenge. We will increase the diversity of our college community, defining diversity in its broadest senses, and we commit to providing equitable opportunity to all.

Innovation
Our college prides itself on being in the vanguard of innovation. We are committed to the highest levels of rigor and inspiration, and so we explore innovative practices that will provide the best opportunities for our students.
Roles of Constituents in College Decision Making

SCCCD constituents participate in college-level decision-making as appropriate within their roles. The California Code of regulations describes the roles for each constituency in making decisions. The scope of decision-making for each constituency group is also outlined in SCCCD Board Policies, and the practices, procedures and job descriptions within the District. References to SCCCD Board Policies and Administrative Regulations are available on the SCCCD website.

Role of Administrators

Clovis Community College’s administrative staff includes the president, vice-presidents, deans, directors, and managers. The college organizational charts and specific job descriptions outline the scope of responsibility for each position. Administrators provide leadership and expertise in assessing, identifying, formulating, and aiding in implementing the overall academic direction for the college.

Role of Faculty

Academic Senate

The Academic Senate represents and appoints full and part-time faculty members. Faculty members participate in decision-making at the college in several ways, including participation in committees, councils, and task forces that impact professional and academic matters as outlined in board policies and state regulations. (Board Policy 2510 and Title 5 sections 53200-53204)

State Center Federation of Teachers

Full and part-time faculty are represented by the State Center Federation of Teachers (SCFT), Local 1533, in matters related to working conditions within the scope of collective bargaining. SCFT is responsible for appointing representatives from faculty to specified committees.

Role of Classified Professionals

Classified School Employees Association

Classified School Employees Association Chapter 379 (CSEA) represents members in matters related to working conditions within the scope of collective bargaining. As the exclusive representative of State Center Community College District classified professional employees, CSEA is responsible for appointing representatives from the classified professionals to specified committees [Ed Code 70901.2].

Classified Senate

Classified Senate represents all classified professionals, including permanent full-time, part-time, and permanent hourly classified employees and classified confidential and classified supervisory employees. Classified professionals are appointed by Classified Senate to serve in an advisory and recommendation role through participation of its elected and appointed classified professional members in college and district planning, policy, and decision-making processes. Classified Senate members provide input on areas that are outside the scope of collective bargaining and that have or will have a significant effect on staff. (Title 5, section 51023.5(a) (4))
Role of Students

The Associated Student Government is the representative body of the students and appoints students to specific committees. ASG is responsible for serving as a liaison between the students, faculty, and administrators. ASG members participate in decision-making at the college by participating in committees, councils, and task forces. ASG members provide input on college policies and procedures that have or will have a significant effect on students.
GOVERNANCE BODIES

Definition
Governance bodies are those whose authority is derived from law and regulation, either as written expressly in the law or regulation or as delegated by another group that possesses said authority. Governance groups assess, discuss and make recommendations to the President on topics appropriate to that group as defined in regulations, such as California Code of Regulations Title 5 § 53200. Governance groups often rely on subcommittees and ad-hocs to complete their work.

The members of governance bodies represent specific constituencies. Each member is responsible to bring information and perspectives from the constituent group into the governance group dialogue as well as to bring information and perspectives from the governance group back to the constituent group.

The governance bodies are:

Operating Agreement

Brown Act

Purpose
The purpose of the Academic Senate shall be to represent faculty as a vital element of a system of participatory governance with regard to curriculum and academic standards, as specified in Section 70901 of the California State Education Code.

The Academic Senate or its representatives shall consult collegially with and make recommendations to the College President or his/her designee and the Board of Trustees. The college recognizes that the Academic Senate is representative of faculty, and will seek the advice and judgment of the Academic Senate on the following academic and professional matters in accordance with the SCCCD Administrative Regulation 2510 and Title 5, sections 53200-53204.

The Academic Senate will consult collegially with administration and other appropriate constituency groups on all academic and professional matters as defined by Title 5 53200 and Education Code 70901. The areas underlined below (items 1-5) are those that are within the “rely primarily upon” as defined in SCCCD’s AR 2510. The areas not underlined (6-10 + 1) are areas that require mutual written agreement between the President and the Senate. These items are collectively referred to as “10+1”:

- 1. Curriculum, including establishing prerequisites & placing courses within disciplines
- 2. Degree & certificate requirements

Consulting collegially means that all of the responsible people and groups will make every effort to resolve conflicts so the decision reflects the mission and values of the college and serves student learning. Administrative councils assess, discuss and make recommendations to a senior administrator about the general management and oversight of the College on a wide range of topics, such as resource allocation, personnel, staffing, instructional or student services issues, unit/program planning, safety, and emergency planning.

Administrative councils’ membership is determined by the position held within the College.

NORMS FOR PARTICIPATORY GOVERNANCE
These norms are established for all participatory governance groups (councils, committees, advisories, etc.) and enable a regular pattern of reporting, recording, and conducting business. By establishing these norms, we increase collegiality, communication, equity, and reporting structures that are essential for good conduct of business.

College Committee Membership
College Committee membership is generally limited to 16 faculty, staff, administrators, and students. All members of College Council and all College Committees, other than student representatives, generally serve two-year terms and members may be selected for additional terms. College Committee Co-chairs will be selected by their respective constituent groups prior to the first meeting. Classified membership on College Committees includes appropriate CSEA representation.

Group Member Responsibilities
Members of all Clovis Community College Participatory Governance groups serve as representatives of their constituencies and are responsible to voice the perspectives of those they represent as well as provide feedback to their colleagues. All members of participatory governance groups are asked to fulfill the following responsibilities of group membership:

- Attend meetings
- Clearly articulate constituent views
- Introduce items, issues, or comments on behalf of constituents
- Function as a team member with other members of the group
- Follow through on tasks
- Report meeting outcomes back to constituent groups
- Work toward common understanding and consensus in an atmosphere of respect
- Support the implementation of recommendations once group consensus is reached
- If unavailable to attend a meeting, send an informed designee

The Academic Senate appoints faculty to committees. Appointees may include faculty coordinators. Faculty co-chairs are determined by the faculty sitting on each committee.
In the event a committee member is not able to perform the necessary responsibilities, co-chairs may recommend finding a replacement to the appropriate constituency president.

Resource Personnel
Clovis Community College Participatory Governance groups may enlist the assistance of persons with specialized knowledge or expertise to address specific agenda items. These persons will be identified as "Resource Personnel" on the agenda and in the committee minutes. People identified in operating agreements as resource personnel can be appointed to membership by the appropriate constituency group. It is the responsibility of the participatory governance group chair(s) to include all resource personnel on their distribution lists for agendas, minutes, and supporting documents.
Ad-hoc Group
Any participatory governance group chair with consensus of the group may convene an ad-hoc group. Ad-hoc groups are defined as a small group assigned by a recommending group (governance, committee, advisory, or organizational group) to complete a short-term task and report back to the group for further review, discussion, or action.

Beginning of Academic Year
The first meeting annually of each Clovis Community College Participatory Governance group includes:

- Establishment of goals for the academic year that align with the Purpose of the Group.
- Review current membership (each semester)

End of the Academic Year
The last meeting annually of each Clovis Community College Participatory Governance group includes:
- A review and assessment of the group’s goals and accomplishments
- Committee co-chairs submit a report of the group’s annual goals and accomplishments to College Council

Procedures for Developing Recommendations
Recommendations to the President developed by College Council and college committees will be developed by consensus. Consensus is defined as the group’s general agreement, and does not require unanimous agreement. Consensus requires that representatives from faculty, administration, and classified as applicable, be in attendance. Recommendations made in college committees should be forwarded to College Council co-chairs. The college committee chair or designee should attend the meeting when the item is agendized as a resource for the recommendation.

Procedures for Presidential Responses to Recommendations
• For recommendations related to an operational issue or other area of responsibility delegated to the President by the Chancellor, the President will review the recommendations and will do one of the following:
  - If in agreement with the recommendation, he/she will approve the recommendation and direct implementation or make minor modifications, direct implementation, notify the governance group about the minor modification, and document the decision;
  - If not in agreement with the recommendation, she/he will return the recommendation to the group with the President’s feedback for further consideration or will deny the recommendation.
• For recommendations that require action by another College or District group, the President will do one of the following:
If in agreement with the recommendation, he/she will forward the recommendation to responsible College or District individual or group for their consideration or action.

If not in agreement with the recommendation, she/he will return the recommendation to the group with the President’s feedback for further consideration.

In all instances, the President will notify the originating group about the status of the recommendation.

Meeting Records

Minutes of meetings are recorded on a standardized, accessible template (See appendix B/C). When appropriate, email exchanges may take the place of a face-to-face meeting. In this case, committee business should be included on a template, and may include documentation of the email exchange or other electronic discussion.

Meeting summaries are distributed for corrections, and are posted online after approval. To support college-wide communication, draft minutes for each Governance Body and standing committee should be posted online within one week of the meeting. Approved minutes should be posted online no later than three working days following the meeting.

Meeting Schedule

To encourage broad participation and awareness of the flow of recommendations, a master schedule of Governance Group, College Committee, College Advisory, and Administrative Council meetings is distributed college-wide and posted on the website.

Brown Act

The Ralph M. Brown Act is an act that guarantees the public’s right to attend and participate in meetings of local legislative bodies. Within the Brown Act, legislative bodies include governing bodies and their subsidiary bodies. Subsidiary bodies are defined as “any board, commission, committee or other body of a local agency created by charter, ordinance, resolution or formal action of a legislative body itself”. At Clovis Community College, groups subject to the Brown Act are:

- Academic Senate
- Associated Student Government
- Curriculum Committee

For more information on the Brown Act, please visit: https://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/.

Open Meetings

All Governance Body and College Committee meetings are open to the public with the exception of Academic Standards, Equivalency, Sabbatical, and Salary Advancement.

District and College Decision-Making Processes

District and College decision making processes are consistent with the guidelines in Board Policies 2510 and 5400 and Administrative Regulations 2510 and 5400 as described in the district Roles of Constituents in District Decision-Making. These decision-making processes ensure opportunities for meaningful collaboration and that constituent groups have the opportunity to participate and provide input.

Continuous Cycle of Improvement

At Clovis Community College, three guiding principles for our college planning are: Community, Equity, and Innovation. Each of these guiding principles contribute to student success, and each piece of our integrated planning model is designed and evaluated with these principles in mind. This document was developed as part of our Integrated Planning process (See Figure 1)

As the college grew from a center to an independent college, members of the college community began to notice that the original participatory governance structure no longer met our decision-making and communication needs. Based on this input, and as the overarching participatory governance group, College Council agreed that it was time to review and revise the governance structure to meet the needs of our growing, independent college.

As part of the ongoing cycle of improvement, the college assessed the participatory governance structure during spring 2019, 2020, 2021, and spring 2022.

The Governance Handbook was updated each spring with changes effective the following fall semester. The current Governance Handbook 2022-2024 reflects the most recent modifications. Now that the governance process has been reviewed several years in a row, the college will move to a two-year review cycle. The next formal review will be during spring 2024. However, this is a living document and updates will be made as needed to support the needs of the college.
