

A Message from Dr. Armstrong

Hello Clovis Community,

I wanted to take this time to thank you for making my first five months a wonderfully welcoming experience. Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to get to know you and learn more about you from a more intimate and intentional perspective than I had as a candidate. I have had the opportunities to meet with you individually and collectively, and I appreciate your openness, transparency, and frankness with regards to opportunities and strengths as we continue to build upon your outstanding foundation and continue to move forward – post COVID – as the preferred institution of higher education that we strive to be.

In my remarks on Opening Day, I stated the following would be my goals and vision for CCC:

- Continual process improvement
- Commitment to support DEIA culture
- Strengthen our position as “The Community College”
- Support and highlight the SLOs at the institutional level

Continual Process Improvement

Based on your strong foundation, and reputation as a “transfer College,” I have tasked Stephanie Babb and Vice Presidents Monica Chahal, Lorrie Hopper, and Marco J. De La Garza to establish and mark CCC as a premier transfer college.

The following are areas to highlight in this process:

1. State all the transfer recognitions and awards.
2. Establish us as a research institution – the quality of faculty that I have observed qualifies us especially – STEM (with focus – STEAM)
 - i. MESA
 - ii. Title V Grant
 - iii. NSF Grant
 - iv. Student Research Awards
3. Build our Honor's Program – establish a Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society
4. Addressed and continuing to address Institutional safety protocols and communication strategies to empower both students and employees (especially as it pertains to evening night safety and basic first aid.)

5. Conversations with DO about placing baby changing tables in our bathrooms as we have none
6. Place standard redline near circle of Building AC1 to provide easy and unencumbered access for emergency vehicles.

And, to institutionalize the College as a Guided Pathways College by promoting on our website and publications the College's commitment to equity practices.

Commitment to Support DEIA Culture

1. All Senates and Councils have been asked to provide an operational definition of diversity, equity, inclusion, and accessibility specific to Clovis. Included areas where the College is not able to provide (list areas of exclusions).
2. Established Community Advisory Committees: African American, Asian American, Hispanic/Latinx, LGBTQIA+, and Business Industry/Community
3. Establish a Clovis Community College HBCU connection – Board approved travel to HBCUs in October
4. Purchased internal and external signs to boldly and openly express our commitment to our LGBTQIA+ and students with disabilities
5. The rainbow flags are proudly and permanently hanging on the flag poles at both the Herndon Campus and Clovis Campus.

You are welcome to use the restroom that best aligns with your gender identity or expression.

Wonderful Welcome Reception held on campus for President Dr. Armstrong

An amazing Welcome Reception was held on campus on March 15 for President Dr. Kim Armstrong. Employees, community members, and dignitaries enjoyed the special event. It was an evening filled with love, laughter, and fellowship.

President's Message Continued

Strengthen Position as "The Community College"

1. Extend participation on community boards to VPs, Deans, and Directors who are interested
2. Increase opportunities for community stakeholders to come to campus and participate at our activities
3. Increase visibility and media through information stories

Highlight SLOs at Institutional Level

1. Leverage the SLOs as a means to demonstrate the high quality of CCC graduates.
2. The impact on these SLOs on transfer rates, on employability rates, on our students taking leadership positions in our region.

As we strengthen our commitment to serving our external community, we are also strengthening our commitment to creating a welcoming environment for lifelong learning and internal stakeholders by holding celebrations like "Let's Celebrate Clovis" and Tenure Faculty Celebration. In addition to us working on defining and providing operational definitions of DEIA for Clovis, we are defining what we want Clovis culture to be for faculty and Classified Professionals in recognition before we get too big. As we define our culture and operational definitions, we are developing and refining our onboarding practices specific to our college.

Lastly, as we prepare for accreditation and strategic plans, we will also be intentional about telling ourselves and our stakeholders what Clovis has done and who we are. Starting in the fall, I will be asking that each unit be intentional about helping everyone to have a personal connection to the Clovis' Mission, Vision, and Values.

The Mission, Vision, and Values are prominently posted on the Vice President's Council and President's Full and Small Council meeting agendas. These council members are asked to share how they live up to the mission at each meeting. They will highlight a core value and be mindful and intentional about executing that value for the month.

These are best practice contributions that I have seen at other colleges implement and that I did at my other colleges that garnished commendation for accreditation. Our accrediting coach and strategic plan consultant talked about connecting actively to the mission. This is a method that I have used for over 20 years that helps everyone, regardless of title or position, to feel a connection to not only our Mission, Vision, and Values but to your individual impact on student success.

Thank you for welcoming me as your president. I am proud to serve you.

CCC earns two placements on the "Best Accredited Colleges" 2023 rankings.

#21 Best Associate Degrees in Psychology and
#27 Best Associate Degrees in Sociology.

CCC Celebrates Black History Month with Engaging Events and Activities

By Akyia Ervin

Knowing our Past to Build our Future was this year's theme for Black History Month at Clovis Community College.

To kick off the month, our college President, Dr. Kim Armstrong, gave an outstanding and inspirational speech at our campus's Inaugural Black History Month Opening Ceremony on the history of her family's generations that paved the way for her to be the leader she is today. There was also singing of the National Black Anthem, "Lift Every Voice and Sing," and a student poetry reading during the event. After the event, guests participated in the Unity Art Project, where they filled canvases with their handprints, using colors of the Pan-African culture: red, black, green, and yellow, representing unity and pride.

The monthly Charge Up Wednesday hosted by Student Activities featured the Fresno African Drumming Circle, where facilitators guided participants in learning the Djembe Drum's songs, rhythms, and beginner techniques. The locally black-owned restaurant, Rhapsody's southern cuisine, was also served after the activity. Other community partner-based events included the Art Exhibit in AC1 titled, "This is Our Story – This is Our Song," by the 80s Heavies, a group of Alumni from Howard University, and a career panel of four local African American professionals who shared their journeys, how they navigate the corporate environment and career advice to students.

Two campus field trips allowed students to experience Black history off campus. The first was a trip to Allensworth State Park, California's first African American town, and then to San Francisco, where students embarked on a campus tour of San Francisco State University, followed by a visit to the Museum of African Diaspora.

A special thanks to campus collaborators for hosting the 5th Annual African American Read-In and the History Department's Dr. Patrick Fontes and Professor Dominique Garcia for their History Talks presentation on Reimagining the Civil Rights Movement.

To wrap up the busy month, the SCCC African American Wall of Honor Induction Ceremony recognized the contributions of outstanding African Americans who have either attended or worked on behalf of the district. Finally, in closing, and making way into Women's Herstory Month, there was a discussion, led by Dr. Francine Oputa on race, power, and gender using themes from the movie Black Panther: Wakanda Forever.

In the words of some of our student attendees, their learning during the month included that "the Black experience has roots further than I could have ever known, we must appreciate history, and that we are all connected."

CCC Celebrates Women's History Month

By Maricarmen Figueroa

Our campus celebrated the incredible achievements and contributions of women through a range of events to honor Women's History Month. We kicked off our programming with International Women's Day Celebration on the 8th highlighting women around the world. Students and staff had the opportunity to engage in activities and embrace equity. The Trivia Night event hosted by the student center highlighted women and challenged participants to test their knowledge and learn more about the remarkable women who have made history. The Open Mic Night provided a platform for individuals to share their personal stories of womanhood and the inspiring women in their lives. Celebrating Women in Leadership brought together campus resources and female leaders to recognize and support the amazing women in our community.

The Women's Wellness Fair provided a safe space for women to discuss important topics related to mental health, safety, and overall wellbeing. This event was a collaborate effort amongst our student government and health and psychological services to raise awareness and give away important resources. The Women in STEM Panel showcased current female faculty in the field of science, technology, engineering, and mathematics, providing insights into the incredible career opportunities and contributions of women in these fields. This Women's History Month Clovis Community honored and celebrated the immense impact of women in our society, and to continue to work towards gender equality and empowerment for all.

Clovis Community College started its first Asian American Heritage Festival

By Pa Thao

The Asian American Heritage Festival invites the public, staff, and students to broaden their understanding. Two events were held in April to promote diversity and inclusion. The festival showcases many Asian cultures and what's seen above the surface. On the other hand, the discussion panel event was held to discuss Asian stereotypes and learn more about what's underneath the surface.

On April 26, the Hmong dancers kicked off the Asian Fest with a joyful dance, followed by the dragon dance performed by the Fresno City College Asian American Club, representing bringing good luck and blessing to the community. The show also included K-pop dancers and Clovis Community Crush Got Talent singer. The show ended with showcasing different cultural fashions and games.

The following day, on April 27, an hour-long discussion panel was held. The panelists were faculty, staff, and students from different cultures and ages. Each panelist talked about their experience with Asian stereotypes and expressed their feeling towards the Asian hate crimes that rose during the pandemic and how the Asian community is changing.

The recap video on the Asian American Heritage Festival can be seen on the Clovis Community College Welcome Center YouTube.

Clovis Community College received a grant to provide additional services and support to our Asian American students.

Congratulations to all our amazing student-athletes who were honored at the Kiwanis Torch of Excellence!
