Clovis Community College
President's Message

Dear Clovis Community College Class of 2025,

On behalf of the Classified Professionals, Faculty, and Administration, it is my great pleasure to congratulate you on your graduation. Thank you for choosing Clovis Community College for your journey.

Your dedication, perseverance, and commitment to earning your associate degree and/or certificates are truly commendable. I recognize the sacrifices you, your families, and your supporters have made throughout this journey, and I am so proud of your determination and success.

May the foundation you received here at Clovis serve you well on your path forward and may today mark the beginning of many more achievements to come. Please remember, with achievement comes responsibility. You now have the opportunity—and the responsibility—to inspire change and make a positive impact on your family, community, society, and the world.

You are now officially a proud alumnus of Clovis Community College! Remember that you will always be part of the Clovis Crush family. I look forward to watching you make your mark on the world.

You have to act as if it were possible to radically transform the world. And you have to do it all the time. -Angela Davis, civil rights activist and educator

Congratulations 2025 Graduates!

While every effort is made to ensure accuracy in this Commencement program, printing deadlines may result in the omission of some names and use of names of persons not completing graduation requirements as intended. This printed program, therefore, should not be used to determine a student's academic or degree status. The college's official registry for conferral of degrees is the student's permanent academic record, maintained by the Office of Admissions and Records.

Academic Regalia

The robes, hats, and hoods worn by faculty, graduates, and administration have historical origins and significance. It means the wearer holds a university degree and, in some ways, is distinctive to the institution from which the wearer graduated. English traditions originating at Oxford and Cambridge led to the development of American academic regalia. By the twentieth century, institutions of higher learning in the United States had adopted a well-defined code of academic costume, which now includes the identification of the different academic degrees by distinctive gowns, hoods, and colors.

Robes

Most robes are black, regardless of what academic degree (bachelors, masters, or doctoral) the wearer holds, though some schools use robes in the school's colors. Doctoral gowns display three velvet bands on the sleeves and velvet facing running down the front of the gown. Gown trim can either be black or the color designated for the field of study in which the doctorate was earned. The associate in arts and bachelor's gowns have pointed sleeves and are worn closed. The master's gown has oblong sleeves, open at the wrist. The doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves, that can be worn open or closed.

Hoods

The shell material of the hood, that colorful cloth draped over the robe, must be black regardless of the color of the robe being worn. The interior lining of the hood, usually silk, displays colors in a pattern prescribed by the institution from which the wearer received his or her degree. The opening of the hood is trimmed in velvet or velveteen, and its color is distinctive of the academic field to which the degree pertains.

Caps & Tams

No academic costume is complete without headwear, which will vary with the level of academic achievement. For headwear, the code recommends mortarboards, with the material required to match the gown. The doctor's degree headwear is the exception – coming in the form of a multi-sided tam made of velvet.

Tassels

The tassel worn on a mortarboard or tam provides the greatest opportunity for creativity in academic dress. It can be black, gold, the colors of a specific college, or the academic discipline of the degree. The gold tassel indicates that the student is graduating with honors.

Cords

Clovis Community College holds all of its graduates in high esteem. In addition to the traditional cap and gown regalia, some graduates are honored with cords to signify service, affiliations, or academics. A cord consists of twisted cords with tassels on either end. By tradition, more than one cord may be worn at the same time.

Stoles

The graduation stole, also known as a graduation sash, is worn over the shoulders during graduation ceremonies to signify achievements, affiliations, or cultural identity. They can be worn to recognize academic honors, extracurricular involvement, or membership in organizations.

Chancellor's Message

Congratulations to the Class of 2025!

It is an incredible honor to celebrate you today on your graduation from Clovis Community College. Your journey to this moment is shaped by the kind of determination that doesn't give up. Today is about your achievement, but it's also about your resilience, your courage, and the belief you held onto, even when things got tough. Earning a college degree is no small feat, and I am deeply proud of each one of you.

As Chancellor of the State Center Community College District, I have the privilege of witnessing how education transforms lives, and your journey is a powerful reminder of that truth. Carry with you the knowledge, courage, and compassion you gained here.

Commencement means beginning, and whether you're stepping into a new job, transferring to a university, or chasing a dream still taking shape, this is just the start of something exciting. Your education opened a door, and now the path ahead is yours to choose.

As you move forward, I encourage you to stay curious. Lifelong learning isn't just about degrees or certificates - it's about the mindset of always growing, always exploring, and always seeking to understand the world and your place in it.

Take a moment to reflect on the people who helped you reach this day - those who encouraged you, challenged you, and stood beside you. Their belief in you mattered. Someday, you'll have the chance to be that person for someone else; to pay it forward and light the way for another learner. Your story can be the spark that changes a life.

Clovis Community College has given you a strong foundation. Now, go out and build on it. Make your mark. Strengthen your family and community. Use what you've learned to make the world just a little brighter.

We are so proud of you. You are now and forever a part of the Clovis Community College Crush family.

Wishing you a future full of purpose, opportunity, and joy,
